

Northern Ireland Community Investment Review

2023/24

Foreword

SSE Renewables has built a long standing relationship with Northern Ireland communities and for over a generation we have ensured communities are at the centre of renewable energy. Our commitment to ensuring communities are strengthened now and for the future is exemplified by the 10th anniversary of the SSE Renewables Scholarship Fund.

We have supported 452 scholars to date to ensure students have the best possible start to their careers and that the local economy benefits from a skilled workforce. It is powerful to reflect on how fundamental this support has been in helping local citizens to progress into key employment sectors from science, engineering and medicine .

As we celebrate this important milestone in Norther Ireland, we also look ahead to the coming decade, and continue to work closely with the Northern Ireland Executive to deliver the renewable electricity we need for 2030. We are committed to enhancing investment in renewable energy and ensuring that communities remain at the foundation of the renewable sector.

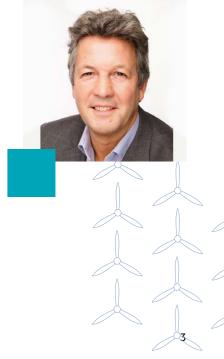

Stephen Wheeler Managing Director, SSE Renewables

I am proud to know that local communities continue to focus on providing local action on the climate emergency. 22% of the community investments in the past year have focused on community energy transition and it demonstrates how vital communities are to enabling our green future.

Achieving our priorities

The past year has marked a significant milestone for our community delivery in Northern Ireland. For a decade we have been supporting young people to reach their full potential through the SSE Renewables Scholarship Programme. Helping the next generation is one of the bedrocks of the community funds and it provides a clear legacy (p7). In addition to celebrating key achievements, we have strengthened our Northern Irish Community Investment team to achieve the following priorities:

New funding strategy - following consultation with grant holders in 2023 we have successfully introduced a new funding strategy that focuses on long-term impact by prioritising projects which will leave a lasting legacy and have a transformational impact on communities and we have done this by introducing multi-year funding awards (p9).

Data management - We have implemented a new grant management system (p5). We have worked closely with the developers, Bluewave, and software provider, Salesforce, to introduce a robust and community focused grant management system which enables all data to be captured safely and securely.

Enhancing the grant management experience

SSE Renewables recognises our responsibility to look after the data shared by applicants. To ensure we meet the highest standards of data protection and to enhance the user experience of applicants we have implemented a new online Community Investment Portal.

Enhancing community spaces

Gortnaghey Community Association

Gortnaghey hosts one of most utilised parks in County Derry/Londonderry. The rural community space receives up to 1,000 visits a week.

After a decade of constant use by the residents and visitors from across the county, it required substantial upgrades to ensure it meets the needs of future residents. Support from the Slieve Kirk Community Fund safeguarded the facility by replacing the safety surfaces, removing trip hazard, and introducing new design and landscaping to ensure the space is welcoming and inclusive to residents of all ages and abilities. The enhanced site will benefit the community for at least a decade and has already been utilised for a range of community events and fundays.

£9,000 awarded in June 2023

"This project is very important to us as it helps us maintain a safe environment for our users. This is evident by the daily flow of users to our small rural village."

Carmel Hogan, Chairperson, Gortnaghey Community Association

A decade of supporting students

452 scholarships awarded since 2014

One of the first stages of developing a community fund is consulting with residents on their key priorities in the local community. One of the priorities which is raised by every community is providing opportunities for young people. Residents recognise young people are the future of their community and want to ensure they have the best start possible.

A key method to support the next generation is to ensure they receive the training and education required to enter highly skilled jobs. For the past decade the community funds have provided scholarships to local students to help them benefit from further education. The Scholarship Fund is delivered in partnership with Ulster University, South West College and North West Regional College. The fund provides up to 50% of third-level fees up to a maximum of three years to students living in Co. Derry/Londonderry, Co. Tyrone, Co. Fermanagh, and Co. Donegal.

Over the past decade over 452 scholars have been supported by the fund in courses as diverse as science, engineering and medicine. Once they have graduated the scholars have been the doctors, nurses, and engineers at the heart of Northern Ireland's communities, who are vital to our economy "I'd like to thank SSE Renewables for their continued commitment to our students as we grow the STEM workforce of the future."

Investing in young people

Aghyaran St Davogs GFC

Many rural communities must think creatively to maintain services in their local area. When the community of Aghyaran in County Tyrone were faced with the closure of their pre-school they came together to identify how the services can continue.

The local Gaelic Football Club recognised that their space provided an ideal venue to provide services for young people of all ages.

Thanks to a three-year grant from the Tievenameenta Community Fund they have been able to renovate their bottom floor meeting room and kitchen so that it can be utilsed by the pre-school during the day with children under five able to participate in play-based learning, crafts, and explorative play. Once the pre-school finishes the space is transformed into an extracurricular base for local primary and secondary pupils who benefit from a homework club, arts and crafts club and a sports club.

The new provision will be vital to ensuring young families remain and join the rural community and will benefit up to 300 young residents and carers over the coming years.

£18,000 awarded in October 2023

Tievenameenta Community Fund

"We are working in partnership with the pre-school to provide a safe facility for the pre-school children of our parish to attend during the day and a recreational facility for children up to the age of 14 to attend in the evenings as an after school/homework club. SSE Renewables award to our project will enable us to provide this essential facility for young people."

Creating community hubs

13 CLIMATE ACTION and the second s

Ederney Community Development Trust

To support more transformational projects the community funds have begun awarding multi-year funding to key anchor projects. This approach helps communities to provide larger projects which will support communities for years to come like the new hub in Ederney.

The community of Ederney had been called to action to tackle a development in the centre of their community. The community development trust had the vision to change and restore the premises into the local community by providing a community hub as part of a scheme to tackle rural poverty and social isolation. The hub has a thriving tearoom which will provide a valuable income stream for the community. The building will also host mental health workshops as well as social events to connect people who feel isolated.

£30,000 awarded in October 2023

Tievenameenta Community Fund

"SSE Renewables are an integral fabric of our community. They have been supporting the communities of our area for almost 20 years and without them, we would not be in the position we are in now. The community has come together now for our biggest project to date, to build the Community Hub"
